ABOUT THE NEWBERY MEDAL

The Newbery Medal is awarded annually to the author of the most distinguished contribution to American literature for children. It was named for eighteenth-century British bookseller John Newbery and is awarded by the Association for Library Service to Children, a division of the American Library Association.

Books written for children anywhere within the age range of birth to 14 years may receive a Newbery award or honor. Parents and caregivers are encouraged to actively engage in the selection of books with their children, as reading skills, cognitive and maturity levels, and interests vary from child to child.

ABOUT ALSC

The Association for Library Service to Children (ALSC) is the world's largest organization dedicated to the support and enhancement of library service to children from birth to age 14. For more information, visit ALSC at www.ala.org/alsc.
